To Whom it may Concern:

During the past year, Bytes BI, the Business Intelligence practice area within Bytes Systems Integration was engaged within Anglo Gold Ashanti for the provision of Professional Services to implement an End-user Computing Database with an appropriate Management Information layer.

From a technology point of view, this was implemented utilizing the Business Objects Business Intelligence platform, from using Business Objects Data Integrator for source data transformation into the end-user computing data base, through to deploying most of the Business Objects front-end tools to the end-users, typically Crystal Reports and Web Intelligence, to deliver on their reporting and analysis requirements.
